

10TH NATIONAL CONGRESS ON EXPERIMENTAL MECHANICS

Lisbon • LNEC • October 12-14, 2016

SPONSORSHIP GUIDE

INTRODUCTION

The National Laboratory for Civil Engineering (LNEC) has the pleasure of organizing the 10th National Congress on Experimental Mechanics - CNME2016, from 12 to 14 October 2016, in its Congress Center.

The CNME2016 Organizing Committee invites sponsorship of this congress from institutions with activities, products or services in areas relevant to the event.

CNME2016 is directed at the technical and scientific community studying, through experimental activities, phenomena in various areas of science and engineering (mechanical, hydraulic, physical, chemical, etc.) and with a view to developing and validating numerical models. This event seeks to promote the exchange and dissemination of experimental methodologies used in various areas and is an excellent opportunity to hear keynote addresses by leading experts and technical discussion, while establishing contacts and updating attendees on a broad range of topics.

As in the previous congresses, this event can be expected to have a strong representation of participants from Spain, Brazil and the other Portuguese-speaking countries.

Experimental Mechanics is strongly interdisciplinary, having applications not only in engineering but also in fundamental areas of research such as biology, medicine and materials science.

The congress aims to offer a comprehensive and very interesting programme, providing a suitable forum for the dissemination and discussion of the latest advances and trends in Experimental Mechanics, a field acting as a trigger for scientific and technological development.

CNME2016 marks the 30th anniversary of the dissemination of CNME within the technical and scientific community, both nationally and internationally, and so there is an expectation of even greater disclosure of developments than in previous events.
